PILOT IS KILLED

Senator Edward Kennedy Injured In Plane Crash

SOUTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., younger brother of the late President John F. Kennedy was injured in a plane crash Friday night while enroute to the Massachusetts Democratic convention in Springfield.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and his wife also were injured in the crash.

A spokesman at the Cooley Dickinson Hospital at nearby Northampton said Kennedy was not on the danger list. He reportedly suffered chest and back injuries and facial cuts.

GETS TREATMENT

Kennedy was treated in an emergency room and then removed to an intensive care unit. A priest at the hospital was not summoned.

Bayh suffered a hip injury. He hobbled into a wheelchair at the hospital. He previously had talked with persons at the crash scene.

Mrs. Bayh was reported in shock but the nature of any injuries was not known.

The man believed to be the pilot of the private Kennedy plane was reported killed. He was identified as Edward J. Zimmy, of Lawrence, Mass.

Also injured in the crash was a man identified as Edward J. Laas, a Kennedy aide.

Mrs. Kennedy arrived at the hospital and was taken to the intensive care unit.

Robert Schauer of Southampton said he and two nephews talked with the Bayhs at the scene of the crash—an apple orchard near Hadley Airport.

Schauer said Kennedy was able to talk but did not want to be moved.

Laotian Prince Blasts Backers Of Pathet Lao

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma declared in a letter made public Friday that foreign backers of the Pathet Lao, in continuing violation of Laotian neutrality, "are taking the surest road toward a generalized war."

Souvanna cited Communist North Viet Nam directly, and by implication Red China, among those "who show sympathy for the Pathet Lao and aid them militarily — actions contrary to the principle of peaceful coexistence and noninterference which they constantly talk about."

"These countries place world peace in a very great danger," he said in the letter, addressed Monday to Britain and the Soviet Union as cochairmen of the 1962 Geneva conference on Laos.

Souvanna warned it is doubtful a proposed new Geneva conference on the Laotian crisis would be successful if the Communists continue to violate the 1962 agreements guaranteeing the neutrality and independence of this landlocked Southeast Asian kingdom.

Delhi Youth, 19, Hurt Critically

DELHI (Special) — Frank McKinney, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. McKinney here, was critically injured Friday afternoon when the horse he was riding threw him.

A companion, Pete Curtis, said McKinney's horse momentarily got out of control and pitched the youth against a board fence.

McKinney was taken to Delhi Clinic and transferred to a Jackson, Miss., hospital. He reportedly suffered severe head injuries.

He is a student at Louisiana Tech at Ruston.

LBJ Warns Asian Reds Of Actions

U.S. Stands Firm To Keep Freedom, President States

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — President Johnson, a thunderous welcome still echoing in his ears, served notice Friday night on Communists in Southeast Asia that America will "defend freedom wherever necessary." Johnson sounded this somber note after receiving an enthusiastic welcome from some 400,000 Californians as he rode through the streets of San Francisco.

In a speech prepared for a Democratic fund-raising dinner, the President said: "There are still those who believe they can violate their neighbor's borders and steal their neighbor's freedom. There are still those who refuse to accept the standards and the laws which the international community has developed."

Johnson followed up this obvious reference to the Communist Chinese and the Red regime in North Viet Nam by saying: "As long as these men persist in disturbing the international peace, we must insist on preserving our power. And as long as I am President, I intend to see that America's defense can never be the object of doubt or her strength the subject of suspicion."

Johnson said this strength is maintained "not to intimidate others but to show others that we cannot be intimidated—not to incite our enemies but to indicate our intention to defend freedom wherever necessary."

Johnson came to California on Friday morning on a fund-raising, vote-winning mission for the Democratic party.

Turkish Chief To Keep Post, Averts Crisis

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Ismet Inonu threatened to resign as prime minister Friday but later changed his mind and said he would hold Washington talks as planned with President Johnson on the explosive Cyprus crisis.

VOTE FAILS

The veteran Turkish politician and soldier made the threat in talking to reporters just after he failed to get a strong vote of confidence on the way his coalition government has been handling the Cyprus problem.

But members of his People's Republican party and his coalition Cabinet persuaded him to remain at the helm and he issued a statement saying he would stay on and leave for Washington on Sunday for talks with Johnson as scheduled.

His resignation would have plunged Turkey into a political crisis that could have weakened it considerably at a strategic time in the conflict with Greece over the future of the eastern Mediterranean island.

Turkish Cypriots are outnumbered four to one by Greek Cypriots on the island, which has been independent since 1962. Communal warfare flared last December, causing the United Nations to send in a peace force.

The confidence vote in Parliament was 199 against 195 for the combined opposition, with two abstentions.

The 79-year-old former general did not think that was enough from a Parliament which last March gave him full power to deal with the Cyprus crisis.

Obviously angered, he told reporters he would submit his resignation to President Cemal Gursel. Inonu has been head of a coalition government since Christmas of last year.

1,000 HOMES FLOODED

Heavy Rains Wash Quake Smitten City

NIIGATA, Japan (AP)—Torrential rainstorms bore down on quake-wrecked Niigata early today. Japan's national radio broadcast flood warnings to the crippled city, digging its way out of the ruins of Tuesday's disaster and jolted Thursday night by a strong aftershock.

The storm, which dumped up to four inches of rain along Japan's western coast, was expected to hit this low-lying port city about dawn. It already had claimed one life, injured five, and flooded more than 1,000 homes in southwestern Japan.

Large areas of Niigata still were knee deep in stagnant water from the wave which washed across the city in the wake of Tuesday's quake.

City health authorities reported the first case of dysentery Friday and the national government rushed in emergency medical supplies and public health officials.

Friday night's strong aftershock, the 5.3rd since the main quake, sent thousands fleeing into the streets.

It added further damage to buildings hard hit Tuesday when Japan's most violent quake in 40 years spread death and destruction across 200 miles of Japan's west coast.

But there were no reports of new deaths or injuries.

The city still suffered for 11 missing. The confirmed death toll stood at 12 in Niigata and 13 in other parts of the quake area. More than 400 were injured, including 279 in Niigata.

An oil storage tank complex still burned fiercely but Niigata's fire chief said it was being damped and there was little danger of it spreading to residential areas.

Baskin Man Is Charged With Murder

WINNSBORO (Special) — A charge of pre-meditated murder was filed Friday against R. T. Mock, 45, of Baskin, in connection with the fatal shooting of Paul Vernon King, 19, of Rayville.

The slaying occurred early Thursday morning as culmination of a two-week-old argument of coffee "kitty" money at Northeast Louisiana Vocational School here where both men were students.

USED SHOTGUN

In the final fray, Mock took a .12 gauge automatic shotgun and shot at James Singer, 23, wounding him on the head and then shot King, officers said.

The latter was struck in the back by the blast and fell to the floor and raised one arm. Mock fired again, almost severing the man's arm. King's watch, on the hit arm, stopped at 7:08.

Mock and five other students at the school had organized a coffee club about two months ago. The dispute began when members contributed 35 cents to buy coffee and supplies on a day when Mock was absent.

When Mock returned, he was asked to contribute but claimed he had paid as much as anyone else.

The argument continued about a week and a half and Mock finally paid 35 cents but the debate continued. On Monday before the shooting, an unusually strong argument occurred and that night, Mock received a letter from one of the members about the dispute.

The final argument occurred Thursday morning when Mock asked one of the members about the letter. The member told him to forget it, that it was a joke.

Mock hit the student with a piece of iron and then ran to his truck and brought out the gun.

The warrant with the charge against Mock was sworn out by King's father, Thomas C. King of Rayville. A grand jury hearing is ordinarily the next step preceding trial in such cases.

U.N. To Extend Cyprus Forces

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Extension of the U.N. Cyprus force for another three months was assured Friday night when Security Council members and the countries directly concerned agreed it was needed to prevent new violence.

The United States threw its backing behind the extension after Cyprus, Greece, Turkey and Britain had announced their support of a five-nation resolution authorizing the 6,400 man force to remain on the strife-torn island.

The Soviet Union did not urge the extension, but declared it would not oppose it.

LOUISIANA AID GRANTS

Bill May Change School Problems

BATON ROUGE (AP) — A state grants in aid official said Friday passage of the civil rights bill might confront Louisiana with sudden need for a special legislative session next fall to tackle public and private school problems.

Under present law, the state grants $360 a year covering private school tuition for students who want to avoid racially mixed public schools.

NO COURT ORDER

James Fountain, director of the Louisiana Financial Assistance Commission, said the civil rights bill would mean a Negro could apply for admission to a white public school without a federal court order.

"We will have to wait and watch the situation next September when school opens," he said. "We don't know what will happen, but there could be a rush of white students from public to private schools."

Should this happen, the state would be confronted with hard cash decisions which couldn't wait until the 30-day fiscal legislature next May, Fountain said.

About 11,000 high school and grade school pupils now attend private schools with grants, mostly in the New Orleans and Baton Rouge areas. The state sets aside $300,000 monthly from sales tax revenues to finance this program. The grants go directly to the students who wish to attend private, nonsectarian, segregated schools.

In other legislative areas, Rep. Percy Branton, states rights champion from Webster Parish, said he would seek a House Judiciary committee hearing, probably Monday, on his bill to write into law recent action of the Democratic state central committee.

The committee, in a compromise with those favoring Alabama Gov. George Wallace,

Cubans Claim Pirate Bomber Knocked Down

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Havana radio said Friday night that Cuban armed forces shot down a "pirate" airplane that bombed a sugar mill.

The broadcast said the plane dropped three bombs on the Marcello Salado mill near Caibarien in Las Villas Province.

One of the bombs exploded at the mill but there were no casualties, it said.

The broadcast, monitored in Miami, charged that the plane flew to Cuba from the United States and said the U.S. government was doing nothing to prevent such attacks.

There was no estimate of damage given.

Gov. Farris Bryant of Florida, in obvious reference to the racial strife at St. Augustine, said, "It is my hope that this legislative step those persons who are committing criminal acts in Florida in the name of civil rights will cease doing so in order that we can be about the task of re-establishing the peace and harmony which has been our tradition."

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro integration leader who is currently in St. Augustine, Fla., on an anti-segregation campaign, said passage "may well bring a cool, serene breeze and a long, hot summer."

"It will bring practical relief to the Negro in the South and give the Negro in the north a psychological boost that he sorely needs," King said.

"By passing this bill the Congress and the nation have paid a lasting tribute to the late John F. Kennedy, who through passionate concern and far-sighted wisdom first presented the bill to Congress," he added.

The integration leaders said Negroes plan to use the summer to test compliance with the law.

Dixie To Fight Issue In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate on Friday night passed the civil rights bill containing strong new barriers to racial bias in employment, public facilities, businesses and federal aid programs.

The roll-call vote was 73-27.

The action climaxed a 15-week struggle — the longest debate in Senate history.

The measure now goes back to the House, which passed basically the same bill four months ago, 290-130. Southerners there have vowed a last-ditch fight, but the odds appear heavily weighted against them.

House leaders expressed certainty that the revised version will be on President Johnson's desk in time for his signing on July 4, Independence Day.

SENATE PACKAGE

Reps. Emmanuel Celler, D-N.Y., and William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, who led the bipartisan fight for the House version of the bill, said they favor accepting the Senate package and no effort will be made by proponents for further changes.

The Senate made over 100 changes in the House bill, mostly minor, and the package was in effect a substitute. The main changes revised the enforcement mechanism to give states with their own public accommodations and fair employment laws a limited period in which to handle complaints. The Senate also put greater emphasis on voluntary compliance and somewhat curbed the new powers the bill would give the attorney general.

The mighty legislative battle closed in its 83rd day after the Senate's longest filibuster — 75 days — was broken on June 10 by invoking debate-limiting cloture for the first time in any civil rights fight.

All 100 senators were present Friday night, as they were on the cloture vote last week — including ailing Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif. Joining for passage were 46 Democrats and 27 Republicans. The no votes were cast by 21 Democrats and 6 Republicans.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the leading contender for the Republican presidential nomination, shouted a firm "no" — as he had announced Thursday he would do. He said he couldn't accept the public accommodations and employment sections.

On the showdown there were several shifts in positions from the 71-29 cloture vote.

These senators voted against cloture but supported passage: Sens. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, Alan Bible, D-Nev., and Carl Hayden, D-Ariz.

Although they supported cloture, Sens. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa and Milton R. Young, R-N.D., voted against passage of the bill.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy issued a statement saying his brother, President John F. Kennedy, would have been pleased by the Senate's action.

"This legislation," the attorney general said, "enhances the basic concept that free people given the opportunity will face their problems and deal with them."

"The vote today must hearten and encourage President Johnson and all Americans."

It was just one year ago to the day that the late President John F. Kennedy submitted the legislation to Congress. After his death, this most sweeping civil rights bill since Reconstruction days was backed vigorously also by Johnson and by leaders of both parties in the Senate.

The hard core of opposition was from 19 Southern senators who took turns denouncing it day after day as an invasion of private rights, and a federal grab for power that was directed in punitive fashion at the South.

Repeated Dixie efforts to amend the measure were rejected except for one instance in which the Senate wrote in a provision for jury trials in criminal contempt cases arising under the bill. A few minor Southern changes were accepted by the leadership.

There were some spirited moments, but for the most part the long debate was leisurely — compared to past filibusters — with just one all-night session and with time out for weekends and holidays.

One of the sharpest flareups came on this final day.

Several Southern senators raised their voices in irritation and resentment at what they termed attempts by Northerners to lecture them on racial measures about which they said the Northerners are ignorant.

RELIGION ART SUBJECTS

Red Students Try To Crash Exhibit

MOSCOW (AP)—Police were called out once more Friday to keep students from crashing in to a highly criticized art exhibit which they claimed was being closed too early.

They crowded police barriers at one end of the exhibition hall where some 200 of Ilya Glazunov's paintings were being shown, and also the other end where a council of artists met to give the official criticism of his work.

Four artists from the Moscow Arts Union didn't wait for the criticism. They lashed out at Glazunov in the evening newspapers, Vechernaya Moscow, accusing him of painting priests and tearful religious faces.

They asked how he considered he was contributing to advancement of communism with such stuff.

But Moscow's younger generation apparently did not agree with the artists union, which first tried to stop the show.

Long lines have formed outside the hall daily since the show opened early in the week after a two-hour postponement due to interference of the artists union.

Friday, the students crashed through the doors, sat in clusters on the floor or badgered union members demanding why they were trying to close the show.

Earlier, it was decided to let the show run a few hours today, then close it. The students had protested that the show ran only to 5 p.m., closing just as they got out of school or off work.

The Education Ministry headed by Ekaterina Furtseva approved the show evidently without consulting the very powerful but somewhat stolid artists union.

They asked how he considered he was contributing to advancement of communism with such stuff.

If a person is drawing an old-age pension and has no other income, and if he (or she) spends about half of the pension for medical expenses, would they be eligible for medical care under the federal Kerr-Mills bill? If not, why?

Our Washington bureau checked with the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and received this answer: Federal law stipulates a person receiving old-age assistance under joint federal-state participating cannot receive Kerr-Mills medical assistance. This program was designed for elderly persons who do not qualify for old-age assistance.

Why is it that fishermen from Mississippi can fish Gassaway and Old River Lakes in East Carroll Parish without a Louisiana fishing license?

The game warden for East Carroll Parish, Quinton Fortenberry, said there is a reciprocal agreement between Louisiana and Mississippi on the bordering lakes. He said, however, that this agreement does not include Gassaway. Fortenberry said that some of the spots included in the agreement are Rockpile Chute, Old River, Choctaw, Albemarle and Eagle Lake.

Is the civil defense office in Monroe open 24 hours a day? If not, how are calls received that come in after working hours?

The civil defense office for this area is open only eight hours a day — the telephone number is FA 2-7116 — but calls after the working day are relayed to a local fire station. If the call is on an emergency situation, fire station personnel know who to call in the civil defense structure to pass the emergency message to.

Has the Catholic Church ever owned the Central Grammar School property? Monroe School Supt. Van Odom said that a portion of the site was originally owned by a Catholic order — the Sisters of the Cross — and that a Father Eno acted for the order in the transfer of the property.

Why does the City of Monroe charge property owners different prices for paving the streets?

Street Commissioner W. D. H. Rodriguez said that property owners are assessed the full cost for the initial paving of a street if they have never been charged before. When a street is rebuilt after more than 10 years, and if the owners paid the original cost, they are assessed 75 cents per front foot and the city pays the balance. If the street fails and needs repaving within 10 years after the original assessment was made, the city rebuilds the street at no charge to the property owner. Monroe has no street maintenance tax, Rodriguez said, with all street revenue coming from general fund.

Where are Interstate Highways 50 and 60 located?

The assistant executive secretary of the American Association of State Highway Officials said that 50 and 60 were deliberately omitted to avoid having identical interstate and regular U. S. highway numbers in the same states. They hoped that this would help in cutting down confusion. These numbers may be added later, however, if present interstate grid is expanded.

Is it true that the City of Monroe is discontinuing bus service on the southside on July 1?

City officials report that bus service on the southside will definitely not be discontinued. A project is underway to revise the entire bus system, but plans have not yet been completed.

A few weeks ago this column published a question and answer concerning salaries paid employees of the Ouachita Parish Police Jury. The answer as to the amount of salaries paid of office employees was inconclusive. We have received several further inquiries asking how much office employees of the jury are paid.

Police Jury president T. W. Humphries said: "It is not a policy of the police jury to answer anonymous inquiries. The office records are open to any taxpayer. Any taxpayer desiring this information can drop by the Police Jury office and get this information at any time between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Mondays thru Fridays."

So, if you want to know how much police jury office employees are paid, it will be necessary to go by the office and examine the records.

Why are female employees of the Louisiana Department of Highways allowed to drive state-owned vehicles to and from work and keep the vehicles at their home while they are off duty?

A highway department official said that the department has one station wagon that is used to pick up office personnel in the morning and return them to their homes each afternoon. The employee who drives this vehicle keeps it at her home overnight, thus saving the state any storage charge, the official said. The employees make one trip downtown at noon to eat lunch and to pick up the mail, he said. The procedure is authorized by the department, he added.

Does Louisiana have a law requiring inspection of meat slaughtered in the state before it is placed on the market? If so, how is it applied? Does the federal government make the same inspection on meat coming into Louisiana from other states?

The state Department of Agriculture said the federal government requires all meat in interstate commerce to be inspected by a veterinarian prior to and after slaughter. Intrastate meat is inspected by the State Board of Health for sanitary requirements. Certain cities have local ordinances on inspection. These vary from city to city.

New Building Planned For Trade School

Action by West Monroe's board of aldermen this week in giving up the city's claim to two street right of ways has cleared the way for construction of a modern building to house most of the offices and shops of the Ouachita Valley Vocational School.

Return of the land, dedicated for the game roads — an extension of North 3th and another never named — but never used, to the original owners is one of the final steps in the sale to the state of the last remaining property in the approximately seven acres planned for the trade school grounds.

Sale of the land, located north of Claiborne and west of Parnell streets in West Monroe, is expected to be completed next week and work on the new building should begin in six to eight weeks, according to D. F. Burkhalter Jr., engineer for the State Bond and Building Commission project.

The new building is expected to boost enrollment at the school. "Enrollment will probably more than double with these new facilities," says S. W. Jackson, director of the vocational school since 1951.

The building, which will face south on Claiborne, will contain 41,668 square feet of floor space and will house most of the facilities now in buildings on the present school grounds at 611 Cryer in West Monroe, a block away from the proposed new structure.

Auto mechanics and welding will probably continue to be taught in their present buildings, Jackson said.

But rooms for drafting, physics, industrial electronics, electrical technology, refrigeration and air conditioning, electronics communications, a television studio and machine shop will be in the new building along with facilities for business and practical nursing training.

Administrative offices and class rooms will also be in the new building.

Part of the structure will have two stories with the business and nursing sections to be upstairs. Students of television technology will receive basic training at the vocational school, then further training at KLS-TV, the educational video station in Monroe. Currently all television training is conducted at KLS.

McKEITHEN TO ATTEND

Formal Opening Of Bank Today

The American Bank and Trust Company, the Twin Cities newest financial institution, will have its formal opening at 2007 Roselawn today between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Governor John McKeithen will be on hand to officially cut the ribbon at 11 a.m.

The bank will conduct business at its present temporary location for several months anticipating construction of their own building on Eighteenth Street in the near future, according to Jamar W. Adcock, president, and William R. Boles, chairman of the board, two of the founders.

Sebron Morris Sneed, executive vice-president and cashier, of the banks operations who will be the manager, invites the general public to attend the formal opening today.

He said: "We want you to come by and let us meet you and tell you about the main office service with branch bank convenience which our new institution will provide."

Sneed pointed out that no business would be transacted today. The regular banking hours will be from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Fridays.

Victor Walker Resumes Duties As New Warden

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Victor Walker took over again Friday as warden of the state prison and Warren A. Cormier returned as superintendent of the Louisiana Correctional Institute at DeQuincy.

Walker planned to delegate his authority to Bruce Bennett, who has been acting warden at the prison, and take leave for two weeks.

The assignment changes were ordered by the new State Board of Institutions Thursday.

Cormier resigned last October as LCI superintendent and Walker had been serving in the post. Walker earlier was warden at the state prison.

Cormier had resigned, citing differences of opinion with institutions director E. R. Anderson "as to the best method of procedure."

The board action means Bennett will resume his post as assistant warden.

Walker said, "It will be a difficult four years at the penitentiary," referring to the fact that the prison, for the past four years, has been operating at $1 million less annually than it had in 1960 and previous years.

IN MISSISSIPPI

Group Files U.S. Suit On Electors

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP)—Civil rights advocates filed a sweeping class action suit in federal court Friday asking that Democratic and unpledged electors activities in Mississippi be curtailed.

The suit was filed by the Council of Federated Organizations, defeated Negro congressional candidate and a white chaplain at Tougaloo College near Jackson.

The suit asked that state laws setting up a slate of unpledged electors be declared unconstitutional.

It also asked that Gov. Paul Johnson, Secretary of State Herbert Ladner, and Atty. Gen. Joe Patterson be enjoined from enforcing the unpledged statute.

A temporary and permanent restraining order was asked.

Plaintiffs in the suit were Mrs. Victoria Jackson Gray, former candidate for the U.S. Senate who lost to incumbent Sen. John Stennis June 2; all Negro candidates in the June 2 congressional election, the Rev. Edwin King of Tougaloo and a number of qualified Negro electors, representative of the race.

At the Democratic convention, the suit said if ten per cent of those attending ask that a second slate of electors be offered to vote for the Democratic party's seal, name and other ties, the convention has to permit their presence in a primary which would be held in September prior to the November election.

At the November election, Democratic voters will choose between the loyalist or unpledged tickets with the winner going on the Democratic ticket, the suit contends.

It also asked a court order enjoining state Democratic chairman Bidwell Adam of Gulfport and the Mississippi Democratic party itself from refusing to place a set of electors pledged to the national party's president and vice presidential nominees.

Chamber Slates Tulip Orders In West Monroe

Orders for tulip bulbs will be taken by the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce Monday through July 15, according to George Tyner, chairman of the tulip committee.

Tyner said that it is necessary for all orders to be in by July 15 so that deliveries can be made under this fall's shipment.

The bulbs will cost $7.50 per hundred. "That's less than half the usual cost of high quality tulip bulbs," Tyner said. He explained that the bulbs being sold were of the "highest quality," and added "that's why we are getting our order in early." "If we wait too late," he said, "all the top quality bulbs will have been committed by the growers in Holland."

Minimum orders of 100 will be accepted by telephone and mail. Out-of-town orders will be filled also. Orders should be mailed to the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce, West Monroe, and a check should be attached to the order.

The special number to call for local orders is 387-1647 where Mrs. Jean Elliott has been stationed to receive the orders.

Buyers will be notified to pick up their orders at the agriculture building on Cypress Street in West Monroe when the bulbs arrive from Holland this fall.

The Chamber of Commerce has been trying to develop interest in the tulip program in West Monroe and this year the bulbs will be available to the entire area.

Manager Eugene Smith said that all orders received before July 15 will be honored.

Eastern GOP Seeks Strong Civil Rights Plank In Party Platform

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Sen. Barry Goldwater is the Republican presidential nominee, he is "just going to have to accept" a strong civil rights plank in the party platform, a platform official said Friday.

Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York, assistant platform chairman for domestic affairs,

Parish Drainage District Tax Is Left Unchanged

The Ouachita Parish Gravity Drainage District No. 1 commission has left the district's tax rate to retire bonded indebtedness at one mill.

The five-man commission, chaired by West Monroe Mayor J. Allan Norris, set the rate at one mill again in their Thursday afternoon meeting in the West Monroe city hall. The district includes most of West Monroe.

Terms of two of the commissioners, Marlin Hattaway and Russell Wood, are four years and run concurrently with that of the governor who appoints them. Their two posts may soon be filled by Governor McKeithen.

Norris, Dan Bivins and D. C. Harper, the other commissioners, were appointed to four-year terms two years ago by the parish police jury.

LEGION OFFICERS

JONESVILLE (Special) — A meeting of Boyd-Mann Post 163, American Legion, will be held 7:30 p.m. Monday to elect new officers, according to Ted Huser, commander.

Delegates will also be appointed to attend the State Convention to be held in New Orleans.

said the Arizona senator "is not going to be able to advocate repealing things that have become ingrained in our system, and I think he understands that."

The chairman of the Platform Committee, Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, said in a separate interview: "I do not believe the Republican convention will nominate any candidate who will not carry out the pledges and positions of the party platform ... The platform comes first, before the nomination of a candidate."

Their views were sought in view of Goldwater's announcement that he would vote against the civil rights bill, which was supported by a large majority of Republicans in the House and Senate.

If anything, the Platform Committee might decide to advocate broadening it in some areas such as voting rights protection, he added.

He said the party's 1960 civil rights plank went beyond the present bill in some respects and there would be "no retreat" from that position.

"Barry Goldwater has been going around the country making speeches that the law of the land is established by Congress, not the courts," Laird said. "As a constitutionalist, even though he might have disagreed at the time and voted against it, I don't see why he wouldn't be for implementing it once it is the law."

Laird added: "The Republican party's historic position has been for civil rights, and its mark has been stamped on every civil rights bill. We as a party were formed to bring about human freedom. We would see that the law is enforced effectively, efficiently and promptly."

Both Laird and Goodell emphasized that as platform officials they are maintaining strict neutrality toward Goldwater and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania or any other possible GOP nominee.

Goodell said "a national candidate no longer represents a state or a district. He represents the consensus of his party, and he has to run on that consensus."

Goodell said he thinks a vote on one bill such as Goldwater's against the civil rights measure

"is not critical. Of course, Scranton will use it to the greatest extent he can, and that's fair play."

Both Laird and Goodell agreed Goldwater had to vote that way, as Goodell put it, "to retain his integrity."

"I think in the long run that will be worth more to him than if he had shifted," Goodell added. "That would have been interpreted by many as selling out his principles."

All Pay And No Work

Most of us are familiar with the old saying that, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." That makes good sense when reasonably applied and doctors say it in effect many times over to their patients who are driving themselves too hard. It also sounds like a good excuse for those who want to play when they should be working. There was a time when its counterpart, "All play and no work makes Jack a hungry boy," was equally true. Now, there is a strange, weird clique in this country which wants to give drones equal status with the workers, both financially and in prestige.

Speaking in Chicago some time ago, an economist by the name of Robert Theobald advanced the extraordinary notion that all people ought to receive an income whether they work or not and regardless of whether they are able to work.

Those persons who prefer to live on public charity (and their number is increasing rapidly) undoubtedly thought Theobald's idea a fine one.

The concept that non-work should be as productive as work is absurd, of course, and should be treated as an absurdity. Any reasonable person knows we could not live without production and there must be some reward for those who are willing to put forth the necessary effort to produce the things we need and must have.

In these strange days, absurdities have no trouble finding a sponsor. In fact, the more irrational some statements are the more they seem to appeal to some people. There are some who apparently get an unholy glee in proclaiming and upholding the absurd.

The same theme of "all pay and no work" was dragged up in March by something called "The Ad Hoc Committee for a Triple Revolution," which sounds as if it might be a proper title for the world youth revolt Attorney General Robert Kennedy revealed some weeks ago he would like to head.

It proposed that the government provide every individual with a guaranteed annual income as a matter of right and without regard to whether that income was earned.

It seems appropriate to mention here that those advocating socialism always want the government to take care of everybody, free of charge, as long as any vestige of free enterprise is left to tax, but that, as soon as all industry is socialized, people do the work the government tells them to do and as much as it tells them to do or they not only get no money to buy food with but get no food stamps giving the privilege of buying such food even if they had the money.

As might be expected, Theobald is a member of "The Ad Hoc Committee for a Triple Revolution."

The public, however, should familiarize itself with some of the other members of the committee. An advertisement placed by the committee carried the signatures of Gunnar Myrdal, Gerald Johnson, W. H. Ferry, Linus Pauling and others.

Myrdal is a Swedish socialist who wants the United States to distribute its national income to other countries, probably so the governments of those countries will be able to pay their own people who do not work.

Ferry is vice-president of the ultra-liberal Fund for the Republic. He was last in the news when he directed ugly criticism at J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and a stalwart supporter of law and order and fundamental Americanism. In 1962, the late United States Representative Francis E. Walter, D., Penn., described some of Ferry's writings, saying that in one book review the Fund official expressed contempt and disdain for the United States.

Pauling is internationally known as a signer of communist-front petitions.

Man's evolution might be traced to the fact that he learned how to work more intelligently and effectively than the beasts of the fields and forests. He learned to do more than graze off the grass that grew naturally or to kill some other creature and eat it. The Bible says that man must live by the sweat of his brow. That is as true today as it was in biblical times. No nation can live if its people believe they do not have to work for what they have.

If the people of the United States were told their government would guarantee them a living, perhaps as good as that attained by those who work, even though they never lifted a hand in gainful employment, how long would they exert themselves? If Silas Scydeswath chose not to work and, instead to accept a weekly check from Uncle Sam, Joe Doaks would soon tire of being a sucker. He, too, would decide to go on the dole. Obviously, the country would not last long if increasingly huge numbers of people thought it respectable, and far easier, to be supported by the government.

We have been tending in this direction as a result of welfare state programs. Even so, the federal government has never come out and said a loafer had as much right to an income as a hard worker and its basic assumption has been that a man without a job wanted to find employment, although that is scarcely true of some third-generation relief-rollers.

Everyone wants to help the man who is out of a job. He may need charity. Conservatives have never opposed charity for those who want work and can't find it but they don't want to give status to loafing, as the Ad Hoc Committee would do. The incentive to work is necessary to keep our society from crumbling.

C.I.A.'s Strange Actions

Writing in a national magazine, Reporters David Wise and Thomas B. Ross declared that four American fliers, all of them from Birmingham, Ala., definitely were under contract with the United States Central Intelligence Agency when they were killed in the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba but that the federal government and the C.I.A. lied repeatedly to the families of these men and, in effect, still have not corrected their lies nor revealed the truth.

Aside from the fact that the C.I.A. apparently approved the statement of a government official at that time that "the government has an inherent right to lie" and adopted the policy of doing so, the C.I.A.'s action in the Bay of Pigs invasion and in some events since then has been strange. The article stated the four fliers "died in combat at the Bay of Pigs."

It might be understandable that the C.I.A. would employ fliers as a part of its investigation activities — the business of obtaining information. If the C.I.A. was hiring the men to engage in actual combat, it would indeed seem strange, since the function of the intelligence agency is to gain information and not to carry on war.

In 1963, Americans purchased more than 523 billion cigarettes; 7.1 billion cigars; 69.5 million pounds of smoking tobacco; 64.8 million pounds of chewing tobacco; and more than 32.5 million pounds of snuff.

Fund-Raising President's Club Growing Larger, More Powerful

WASHINGTON — The "exclusive" fund-raising "President's Club" set up by the late President Kennedy is taking on a new dimension under his successor.

As an inducement to businessmen, industrialists, labor leaders and others to join the select Democratic organization by contributing $1,000 or more, they are being offered "direct access" to President Johnson and his White House aides.

Instead of going through regular political channels, club prospects are being told they will be able to deal directly with the President and his staff.

Being singled out for special emphasis is the President's intention to "seek the views and recommendations of club members in considering and selecting federal appointees."

Other membership enticements are being listed, but the above are the most stressed.

THIS PLAIN cold-turkey selling is being done by two of the President's principal political lieutenants — Clifton Carter, Tex., among the closest to the President, and Richard Maguire, treasurer of the Democratic National Committee and a key Kennedy hold-over.

In a carefully unpublicized drive the Carter-Maguire team is holding private meetings throughout the country to boost the "President's Club's" membership from 1,620 to 3,500 by the start of the great fall election battle.

Illustrative of these membership-selling sessions is the one that recently took place in Cleveland, Ohio.

Held in the Pine Room of a leading hotel, it was attended by some 60 carefully-chosen prospects. They included Mrs. Cyrus Eaton, wife of the prominent industrialist who is a warm friend of Premier Khrushchev and a strong advocate of closer U.S. ties with the Soviet, and Harry H. Stone, executive vice president of the American Greetings Corp.

At the conclusion, about 20 of these hand-picked guests joined the club by forking over $1,000. Among them were Mrs. Eaton, who also put up $1,000 for her husband, and Stone.

ANOTHER 20 indicated they were interested but wanted to think it over. The remainder were noncommittal.

The evening's proceedings opened with cocktails, dinner and a round of introductions. Carter then took over, relating the origin of the "President's Club" under President Kennedy, its primary purpose of raising campaign funds, and the various advantages to members. On the latter, Carter was frankly explicit.

"The 'President's Club' is very exclusive," he said. "Now its members are assured of direct relationship with President Johnson. In dealing with the President or members of his White House staff, members will not have to go through state or national party officials. A member who wants to talk to the President or one of his assistants has only to contact my office. That's all that's necessary. The member will immediately be put in contact with whomever he wants to reach."

This alluring gambit was clinched by Carter as follows: "The President plans to seek the views and recommendations of club members in considering and selecting federal appointees. The President also recognizes that businessmen and industrialists know the value of the dollar better than anyone else, and make outstanding administrators when named to important public office."

UNEXPECTEDLY and obviously much to Carter's startled discomfiture, this glowing pronouncement boomeranged.

Patrick O'Malley, head of the Cleveland AFL-CIO, took blunt exception to Carter's enthusiastic acclaim of the qualifications of business executives. O'Malley emphatically contended that labor leaders were equally capable of filling government jobs.

Apparently not aware that a laborite was present, Carter immediately sought to make amends — by fully agreeing with O'Malley.

"I ASSURE you every consideration will be given qualified union representatives in filling positions," Carter earnestly promised. "President Johnson is in constant consultation with labor leaders, and those who join the 'President's Club' will have the same access to him and his White House staff as other members."

In Treasurer Maguire's spiel, he cited other benefits that will accrue to club members. Among them will be invitations to a special reception when President Johnson goes to Cleveland during the fall campaign; admittance to a special VIP Lounge at the Democratic convention in Atlantic City; and attendance by members and their wives at a "midnight buffet" that President and Mrs. Johnson are planning at the convention after his nomination.

"I should point out," Maguire added significantly, "that among those who will frequent the VIP lounge will be senators, congressmen, governors and other influential officials. Needless to say, this will afford an exceptional opportunity to become acquainted with them."

Scranton Begins Belated Struggle

From last weekend when Governor William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania began his final-hour fight for the Republican Presidential nomination the question has been: How can anyone in a little more than four weeks build up against a front runner who has been building up for four years?

This correspondent, who in the course of his newspaper work has covered 27 consecutive Presidential nominating conventions, and expects on July 13 to attend his fourteenth Republican National Convention, has been trying to think of a situation similar to the present one. The first and bitterest of all G.O.P. conclaves I have attended, (that of 1912), is not comparable.

Former President Theodore Roosevelt announced his candidacy against President William Howard Taft as early as February 20, 1912, and the convention was not held until June 18. The showdown Taft-Roosevelt fight was before the Credentials Committee and when Taft won there Roosevelt, scoring the Taft forces as "thieves," asked his delegates not to vote. One hundred and seven of them did vote but 344 did not and Taft was renominated 561 to 107. Roosevelt ran as a Progressive Party (Bull Moose) candidate, making it easy for the Democrats in November.

GENERAL Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952 was the winner over Senator Robert A. Taft in Ohio in a contest which was finally decided by the Credentials Committee. Had Taft won the Texas and Georgia delegations in that committee he would have lead and undoubtedly have won the nomination. Instead Eisenhower had 595 votes six short of a majority on the first ballot, to Taft's 502, and Harold Stassen's Minnesota delegation accommodated Eisenhower with all he needed.

But when Texas chose its 56 Goldwater delegates this week the Arizona Senator seemed to have a clear majority of the delegates who will be seated in San Francisco and be about the business of nominating a President in less than a month from now. Only Montana remains to choose its delegates. There will be no contests of importance, if there are any at all, before the Credentials Committee. The Scranton task is to persuade part of Goldwater's delegate majority away from him.

WENDELL WILKIE is often cited as an upset victor for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1940. Wilkie won in a field of nine voted for on the first ballot. Leading at the start was Thomas E. Dewey, District Attorney and rackets prosecutor in New York City. Later Dewey was Governor, but in 1940

WE SHALL see what we shall see at San Francisco. But at this juncture it must be said that if Scranton succeeds in detaching enough of Goldwater's strength to win the Presidential nomination it would be the biggest upset in the Twentieth Century national convention history.

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

Court Overrules All Legislatures

Simply stated the question is to what degree, if at all, the Equal Protection Clause of the 14th Amendment limits each sovereign state's freedom to establish appropriate electoral constituencies from which representatives to the state's bicameral legislative assembly are to be chosen. The Supreme Court's answer is a blunt one, and I think, woefully wrong.

The Court's draconian pronouncement, which makes unconstitutional the Legislatures of most of the fifty states, finds no support in the words of the Constitution, in any prior decision of the Court, or in the 175-year political history of our Federal Union.

With all respect I am convinced that these decisions mark a long step backward into that unhappy era when a majority of the Court were thought by many to have convinced themselves and each other that the demands of the Constitution were measured not by what it says but by their own notions of wise political theory.

WHATEVER may be thought of this holding as a piece of political ideology — and even on that score the political history and practices of this country from its earliest beginning leave wide room for debate — I think it demonstrates that the 14th Amendment does not impose political tenets on the states or authorize the Court to do so.

The Court relies exclusively on that portion of Section 1 of the 14th Amendment which provides that no state shall "deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws," and disregards entirely the significance of Section 2, which reads:

"Representatives shall be apportioned among the several states according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each state. But when the right to vote at any election is denied . . . the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such . . . citizens shall bear to the whole number of . . . citizens."

The amendment is a single text. I am unable to understand the Court's utter disregard of the second section which expressly recognizes the state's power to deny the right of their inhabitants to vote for "the members of the (state) legislature," and its express provision of a remedy for such denial or abridgement.

The history of the adoption of the 14th Amendment provides conclusive evidence that neither those who proposed nor those who ratified the amendment believed that the Equal Protection Clause limited the power of the states to apportion their legislatures as they saw fit. Moreover, the history demonstrates that the intention to leave this power undisturbed was deliberate and was widely believed to be essential to the adoption of the amendment.

OF THE 23 loyal states which ratified the amendment before 1870, five had constitutional provisions for apportionment of at least one house of their respective legislatures which wholly disregarded the spread of population. Ten more had constitutional provisions which gave primary emphasis to population, but which applied also other principles, such as partial ratios and recognition of political subdivisions, which were intended to favor sparsely settled areas. Can it be seriously contended that the legislatures of these states, almost two-thirds of these states concerned, would have ratified an amendment which might render their own states' constitutions unconstitutional?

DESPITE RELIGIOUS BELIEFS

Bible Fails To Free Man From Bargain

WASHINGTON (AP) — May of the National Labor Relations Act. The employees previously had voted for the union in a representation election.

A trial examiner for the National Labor Relations Board said Friday that a Bible-quoting employer must go ahead and bargain in good faith despite his religious beliefs.

The case involves Wirt Burns, half-owner of Western Meat Packers, Inc., of Grand Junction, Colo., and the AFL-CIO Amalgamated Meat Cutters Union.

The trial record said that when Burns sat down with union representative G. W. Dean, "he reached for his Bible and quoted a Scripture which Dean thought dealt with the fact that he (Burns) could not consort with infidels, and he therefore could not sign a labor agreement."

Burns, the trial record said, conceded that he interpreted the Bible to mean he could not enter into a binding contract with the union, and that he had previously advised the firm's board of directors to that effect.

The ruling of trial examiner Sidney Lindner becomes final in 20 days unless there is an appeal to the full board.

Lindner rejected the employer's argument that the union had not bargained in good faith, that the company was unable to raise wages and that it objected to a union shop.

"The real reason was Wirt Burns' declaration, as conceded in the company's brief, that because of his religious beliefs he never intended to and was not able to enter into a union contract."

Lindner ruled that by relying on his interpretation of the Bible, Burns had "interfered with, restrained and coerced" the firm's employees in violation

Albert F. Matous

Albert Fred Matous, 63, of 518 Layton Ave., died at his residence Friday afternoon of a heart attack.

A native of Homestead, Pa., who had lived in Monroe for about two years, Mr. Matous was a retired machinist.

Funeral services are incomplete but will be held from Hixson Brothers Funeral Home chapel here with the Rev. Edward Deevy of St. Matthew's Catholic Church officiating. In-ceremonial will be in Riverview Cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Josephine Matous of Monroe; a son, Bert Matous, Grandview, Mo.; two brothers, Eddie Matous, Ocala, Fla.; a sister, Mrs. R. J. Favire, Blauvelt, N.Y.; and two grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Ronnie Factor, George Factor, E. F. Gunn and Otis Bufkin.

Parish Officers

Book Texan For Theft By Check

A Texas man, wanted for felony swindle by worthless check in Longview, Tex., was booked by the Ouachita Parish sheriff's department Friday on charges of theft by check in the amount of $61.20.

James Lawrence Ford, 24, who gave his temporary address here as DeSoto street, was arrested about noon on the charge in connection with a worthless check issued to Rose Oil on Louisville Avenue. A routine check showed the man was wanted in Longview on the swindle charge.

Chief Deputy Frank Kirby said Ford would be tried here then released to Longview authorities.

LAST TRAIN ROBBER

Cancer Fells Agent 'Wild Bill' Carlisle

COATESVILLE, Pa. (AP) — William L. (Wild Bill) Carlisle, "the Robin Hood of the rails," who was one of the last train robbers of the West, died Friday of cancer. He was 74.

Death came at the home of a niece, Hilda Cammie, who had cared for him over the past 10 weeks. She was at his side when he died.

Carlisle's husband, Francis, said Carlisle had reformed and lived an exemplary life for many years.

Carlisle robbed his first train in 1916 when he was 25. He robbed three more and was sent to prison in Wyoming for life. He was paroled in 1936 and received a full pardon in 1947.

But his legend lived on—the legend of a polite gunman with his face masked by a white handkerchief, forcing a train

Three Concerts By Jet Summer Band Scheduled

RUSTON (Special) — Three concerts by the summer band of Louisiana Tech have been announced by director Jimmie Howard Reynolds.

The first performance of the series, scheduled for June 28 at 6:30 p.m., will be dedicated to the Tech summer music camp to be held for high school pupils. The concert will be played at Dudley Circle.

The second performance will be held July 7 at 6:30 p.m. in City Park.

The third concert is set for July 14 but the place has not been determined, Reynolds said.

These programs will include soloists, pop tunes, overtures, marches, hymns and waltzes.

Graduate and undergraduate students comprise the summer band. Rehearsals are scheduled for Tuesdays and Thursdays for 50 minutes.

McKeithen Poll Finds Electors Strong In State

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Gov. John McKeithen said Friday a private poll he had made showed extremely strong support in Louisiana for the unpledged elector movement championed by Alabama Gov. George Wallace.

"To my surprise, a majority of those who said they understood the movement said they favored unpledged electors," McKeithen told his news conference here.

The poll was made just before the March 3 gubernatorial election, he said, but the results had been kept secret prior to the news conference.

McKeithen made the poll results public two days after Wallace's whirlwind visit to Baton Rouge, where he addressed a joint session of the legislature and spoke at a fund raising dinner.

McKeithen has refused to date to back the unpledged elector movement.

Wallace, whose name will appear on the presidential ballot in this state at the head of an unpledged elector slate, argues the South by withholding its electoral votes can deny the White House to either major party candidate.

"The weakness of his plan is that the election has got to be close," McKeithen said. "... And it looks like Lyndon Johnson is going to be very hard to beat."

McKeithen stuck by his position that he will not decide on a course of action until after the Democratic national convention. He has said numerous times Johnson will carry Louisiana unless Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy or Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, is the vice presidential nominee.

The governor said his poll indicated that at the time it was taken 40 per cent of the people of Louisiana did not understand the free elector movement.

How To Keep Well

DREAM DATA

A certain amount of dreaming at night is necessary. Experimental studies in laboratories show that when dreaming is prevented, the individual becomes irritable and anxious and his appetite increases. It is as tho a pressure builds up during these nights of deprivation. Release occurs when the number and duration of dreams are not interrupted during the next few nights.

Dreaming is a normal constituent of sleep. It takes up 20 per cent of the total sleep time. But most of us do not remember them unless awakened immediately at the end of the dream. Recall also is less likely to occur when they take place during deep sleep.

Dream research is done in special laboratories where electrodes are taped to the head of a volunteer to record brain waves (electroencephalogram). Similar wires are taped just above and alongside each eye to record eye movements. The typical dream usually is preceded and followed by fidgeting, especially of the hands and feet.

The sleeper relaxes during the episode except for rapid eye movements (REM). Ocular activity actually is the most significant sign that a dream is in progress. This was determined by awakening the volunteer immediately after the REM stops. He recalls the dream provided he was not in a deep sleep. The EEG helps to measure the depth of sleep.

Dreaming is not initiated by emotions or by outside stimuli. On the other hand, if a bell is used to awaken the sleeper several times at night, he is likely to dream about ringing door bells or talking on the telephone.

A dream is a hallucination in that the sleeping individual actually believes the experience is real. The daydream is different: the person knows it is make-believe. Hypnotic hallucinations may occur in the period between sleeping and waking. The individual may feel as tho he were drifting into space or hearing strange voices.

TORN MUSCLE

R.W. writes: What can you tell me about shin splints?

REPLY

Athletes who run on hard surfaces early in the season may suffer from pain due to a torn by the trauma of constant jar-muscle. This is brought on by the trauma of constant jar-ring. Heat, massage, taping, and rest encourage healing and reattachment of the muscle to the shin bone.

EAR INFECTION

J.K. writes: Does an inner ear infection leave any bad after effects?

REPLY

Complete recovery occurs in most instances, especially when the infection is treated properly. Neglect leads to deafness, mastoiditis, or chronic otitis media (persistent drainage).

Woman To Head Tourist Bureau For Louisiana

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Mrs. Bailey Thaxton, Natchitoches, has been named director of the tourist bureau of the Louisiana Department of Commerce and Industry.

She succeeds Bill Welch, Baton Rouge, who resigned last month.

Mrs. Thaxton, a campaign worker for Gov. John McKeithen, is a long time worker in tourist promotion.

She is a graduate of North-western State College, with graduate work at LSU and Columbia University in home economics and social studies.

The new director has been at work since June 15 and reportedly will be named head of the proposed new Tourist Commission if it is approved by the legislature.

The bill creating the Tourist Commission as a separate branch of government and divorcing it from Commerce and Industry, has cleared the House and awaits Senate action.

Lynda Johnson Takes Day Off After Fishing

HONOLULU (AP)—Tanned, rested and pleased with her first deep-sea fishing expedition, Lynda Bird Johnson had only one objective Friday—to take it easy.

The President's 20-year-old daughter indicated she might do a little shopping, swim, and rest some more.

She went fishing for marlin Thursday aboard a 45-foot boat. She returned with a four-pound tuna.

Although she didn't pull in any big ones, Miss Johnson appeared to enjoy herself. The planned five-hour fishing trip was extended to eight hours.

Her seclusion, after a week of travel to Hawaii's major islands, continued Friday at the Hawaiian Village Hotel. She planned to swim at a private beach at Bellows Air Force Base.

She was to leave late Friday night or early today for Los Angeles where she will join President Johnson at a Democratic fund-raising dinner Saturday night.

Gov. Johnson Assures State Of Rights Safety

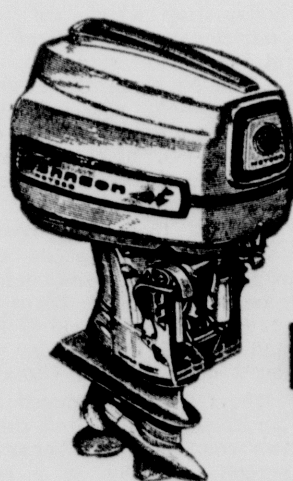

BILOXI, Miss. (AP)—Gov. Paul Johnson Friday assured Mississippi that state authorities were prepared to cope with any civil rights disturbances that might occur this summer.

His statement in a speech here came as the vanguard of more than 1,000 college students prepared to invade Mississippi to engage in civil rights activities.

"We have been quietly preparing for any and all events that might come about," he told the 31st annual convention of the Mississippi Wholesale Grocers' Association.

He said the state's laws must be obeyed by all persons "black, white or spotted."

Johnson urged Mississippians to act intelligently and leave enforcement of the laws to law enforcement agencies.

Jacobs Visits Expert To Pep Up Golf Game

WASHINGTON (AP) — "It all just fell into place at once," said Tommy Jacobs. "It was like picking up a bridge hand with 13 spades."

Jacobs was talking about his remarkable 64 in the second round of the National Open Golf Championship, over the monster course of the Congressional Country Club, longest ever used for an Open. The score tied the record low shot in the 63 previous Opens.

"I was just trying to play the best I could. Catching Arnold Palmer never entered my mind," he said.

"I didn't even know I had a chance at the record until Dutch Harrison told me about it on the 16th tee," Jacobs said.

He leaned back on a backless wooden bench in the locker room, a sweet smile on his handsome face, his wavy brown hair mussed a little, and explained how he talked his golf game back into shape after a long slump.

"I went to a man named Tom Brandon," he said. "He's out in Upland, Calif., and he is the wisest man about golf in the world. He doesn't play much any more, he's in his 60's, but he once was a scratch player."

"He is a retired Navy officer, and he sometimes helps out golf pros who are in trouble. You don't call him, he calls you, but I was able to get an appointment with him."

Don Kessinger For Big Bonus Signs With Cubs

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP)—Don Kessinger, a two-sport standout at the University of Mississippi, signed a bonus baseball contract with the Chicago Cubs Friday.

Amount of the bonus was not disclosed, but it was believed to be high. Eleven major league scouts were in Forrest City to talk with Kessinger Thursday.

Kessinger, a shortstop, will play for the Cubs' Fort Worth club in the Texas League.

He played basketball and baseball at Ole Miss, where he set numerous basketball scoring records.

HALLOWEEN HOMECOMING

Tribe Grid Slate Has Eight Games

Northeast State's football team will play eight games in 1964 with the only new opponent on the schedule, the University of Tampa, slated to be the homecoming opponent Oct. 31.

The Indian schedule, announced today by Dixie White, Northeast athletic director and head football coach, includes the usual five Gulf States Conference opponents and three independents, Tampa, Delta State and Howard College.

Northeast will open the campaign against Delta State in Cleveland, Miss., Sept. 19. The Indians will be meeting Delta for the 13th time while Howard, an Oct. 10 opponent, was on the schedule for the first time last fall.

After the season opener against Delta State, Northeast will have an open date Sept. 26 before opening the Gulf States campaign against Northwestern State here in the first home contest of the season.

Northeast will play three home games. The Tribe plays Northwestern, Tampa and Louisiana Tech in Brown Stadium. The Tech game will be the season final here Nov. 21.

Road games are Delta State, Howard Oct. 10 in Birmingham, Ala., McNeese Oct. 17 in Lake Charles, Southeastern Oct. 24 in Hammond and the University of Southwestern Louisiana Nov. 7 in Lafayette.

All of the Northeast games will be night affairs beginning at 8 o'clock except the Howard contest, which will start at 2 p. m.

Missing from the 1963 schedule are Clattanooga, McMurry and Arlington State. Northeast defeated McMurry and Arlington during the 1963 season in which the Indians compiled a 4-6 record.

The Northeast schedule: Sept. 19 — Delta State College, Cleveland, Miss., 8 p. m. Sept. 26 — Open Oct. 3 — Northwestern State, Monroe, La., 8:00 p. m. Oct. 10 — Howard College, Birmingham, Ala., 2:00 p. m. Oct. 17 — McNeese State, Lake Charles, La., 8:00 p. m. Oct. 24 — Southeastern, Hammond, La., 8:00 p. m. Oct. 31 — University of Tampa (Homecoming), Monroe, 8:00 p. m. Nov. 7 — University of Southwestern Louisiana, Lafayette, La., 8:00 p. m. Nov. 21 — Open Nov. 21 — Louisiana Tech, Monroe, 8:00 p. m.

Incredible Round Puts Arnie Second

WASHINGTON (AP) — Young Tommy Jacobs rolled a snaking 60-foot putt on the final green Friday for an incredible six-under-par 64, matching the best round ever played in the 69 years of this blue ribbon event, and shot a stroke ahead of charging Arnold Palmer for the halfway lead in the National Open Golf Championship.

Completely nerveless and refusing to be shaken by the sub-par rush of the great Palmer, playing half an hour behind him the 29-year-old tournament regular from Bermuda Dunes, Calif., reeled off six birdies and 12 pars—without a single bogey—for a 36-hole score of 136.

Palmer, the Masters champion shooting for an unprecedented grand slam of major titles, came in with a 69 on top of his opening round 68 only to learn of Jacobs' fantastic feat. "Did he play all the holes?" Palmer asked incredulously.

"This has to be the greatest round of golf ever played in the history of the game," exclaimed Gary Player, the little South African, who struggled home with a 74 for 149.

Court Studies Georgia Governor's Appeal For Slower Reapportionment

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A federal court is considering a plea by Gov. Carl E. Sanders that the Georgia Legislature be given time to reapportion House membership in the face of a demand by urban residents for immediate action.

Judge Elbert P. Tuttle, chief judge of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, announced at the close of a two-hour hearing Friday that a decision would be handed down as soon as possible.

Tuttle, member of a three-judge panel, questioned Sanders and attorneys for the state repeatedly on how the court could delay action if the House is malapportioned as contended by citizens of metropolitan Atlanta.

Tuttle commented that the legislature, now in special session, is working on adoption of a new state constitution and a new elections code "although the House membership now is malapportioned."

He said an elections code should not be enacted by a House not based on population.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled Monday that both houses of a state legislature must be apportioned according to population.

The Georgia Senate was reorganized on a population basis in 1962. Under Present House apportionment, the representatives from rural counties with only 22 per cent of the state's four million population can enact or block legislation.

Sanders said Georgia had complied with earlier Supreme Court rulings and would continue to do so but that time is needed to study population districts. He also said consideration should be given by the court to the more than 100 House nominees who won seats in a Democratic primary this summer.

The governor said the Supreme Court, in reapportionment rulings, had said the fact that a state had election machinery in operation should be taken into consideration. He argued that time is needed to avoid chaotic conditions.

Francis Shackelford, one of 14 attorneys representing the petitioners, asked for action now and said the court would be requested to do the reapportionment if it is not done promptly by the legislature. He said the legislature could provisionally reapportion the House this year and make it permanent later.

Freeman Leverett, assistant state attorney general, asked the court to permit the legislature to finish its work on the new constitution and elections code and postpone reapportionment of the House until the regular session in January 1965.

Tuttle interjected: "You are asking the right to continue legislating for 2½ years under a malapportioned legislature."

Leverett cited court rulings he said permitted delay in reapportionment because election machinery already was in operation.

Realignment of Senate seats, he said, was done in haste, and as a result five lawsuits had been filed.

He argued there was no statutory authority for "pushing aside" 100 House members already nominated.

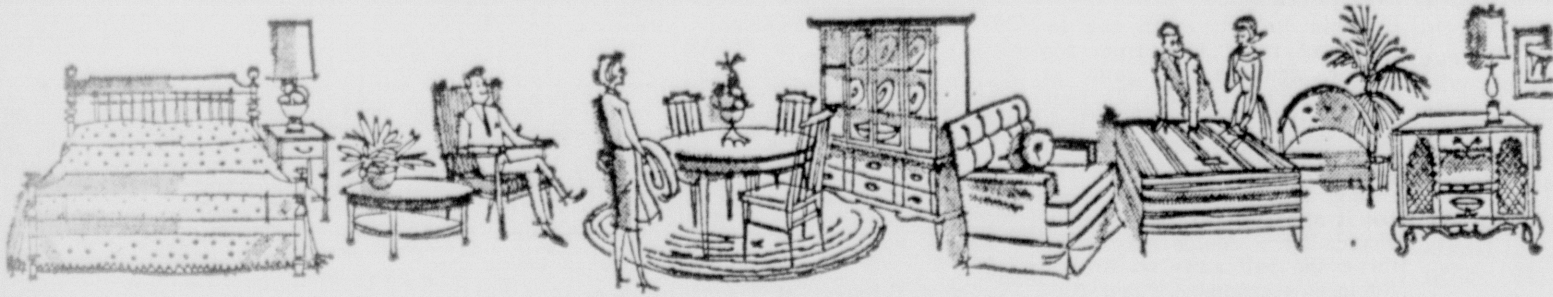

Senator Praises LBJ For Success Of Rights Bill By Georgia Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said Friday that President Johnson deserves the major credit for the passage of the civil rights bill.

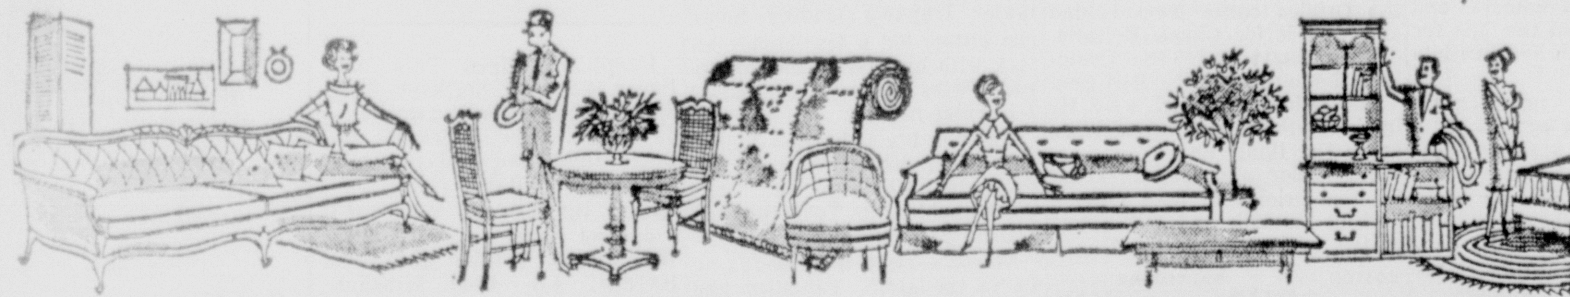

"If it had not been for his leadership, his courage, his determination," Morse said in a speech prepared for the Senate, "I am convinced that the Negroes of America would have seen the year 1964 pass into history without the passage of this civil rights bill delivering their constitutional rights to them."

Morse said Johnson solidified support in Congress and the county for the bill with a speech a few weeks ago to the Georgia Legislature.

"By making that speech where he did, he made it clear there was to be no retreat on the civil rights issue," Morse said.

Final Parties Climax Events Before Milling-McDonald Vows This Evening

The wedding of Miss Anne Catherine McDonald and King Milling at Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church this evening at 7 p.m. will climax the whirlwind activities of this week. Concluding the pre-nuptial courtesies for the bride party is the wedding breakfast this morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Snellings Jr., while the rehearsal dinner and the bridesmaids' luncheon were both held on Friday at Bayou DeSiard Country Club. Out-of-town guests meanwhile are being entertained by a brunch today, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. George Weeks, and were invited to a cocktail party last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Layton.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bernstein Jr. will join Mr. and Mrs. Snellings as hosts for this morning wedding breakfast at 11:30 at the Snellings home on Country Club Road.

Pink and blue hydrangeas, native greens, viburnum and magnolia leaves will be used in the house decorations, while pink roses center the dining room table. On the porch arrangements of daisies and magnolias will be the focal point. Entertainment will be provided by a strolling guitar player.

For her final party, Miss McDonald has chosen a white Swiss Rayon sleeveless dress, piped in yellow and fashioned with yellow covered button.

Guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gibson McDonald, parents of the bride-elect; Mrs. Robert E. Milling Jr. of New Orleans, mother of the groom-to-be; Mrs. Marie Delery Wassermann of New Orleans, grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Fort Pipes, of New Orleans, grandparents of groom. Other New Orleans guests will be Mr. and Mrs. John J. Puisseur, Mrs. Eunice McDonald Wherritt, Judge and Mrs. Wayne Borah, Mr. and Mrs. John FitzHugh, Mr. and Mrs. Fort Pipes Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin Hunter Delery, Mrs. W. C. Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Groner, Miss Lady Greenslit, Miss Virginia Borah, Miss Claudia FitzHugh, Miss Kingsley FitzHugh, Miss Elizabeth Pipes, Miss Lotta Pipes, Robert Milling III, David Milling, William Borah, Tucker FitzHugh and Vernon Palmer.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Carville of Carville, Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Carville Jr. of Baton Rouge; Mrs. F. F. Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Milling of Covington; Mrs. Charles Stewart of Lake Charles, Mr. and Mrs. Hayward Ball of Jacksonville, Florida; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gibson McDonald Jr. of Jackson, Mississippi; Mr. and Mrs. Lucien M. Provosty of Slidell; Mrs. Lloyd Wesley Mason Jr. of New York; Robert Lancaster of Dallas; David Tyrrell of New York; George Robbins of Hermitage, Louisiana; Earl McGowan of Chapman, Alabama.

Also Mr. and Mrs. George M. Snellings III, Mr. and Mrs. William Charles Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Anspach, the Rev. Msgr. John Marsh, the Rev. George Martinez, Miss Nancy Snellings, Frank Snellings, Denzley McDonald, John Blackman and the honorees.

REHEARSAL DINNER

Mrs. Robert E. Milling Jr. entertained members of the bridal party at a dinner in the lounge of Bayou DeSiard Country Club last night, following the wedding rehearsal of her son and his fiancée.

The bride's table held as its centerpiece a long low arrangement of Supreme White Colorado peonies and smilax, flanked by five-branched candelabra. Two smaller containers of peonies and smilax were used at either end of the long table. A five branch candelabrum with two low arrangements of the same blossoms centered the other two tables.

The bride-elect wore a white ottoman cocktail frock accented by a pale pink peau de soie belt and pink shoes.

Sharing the occasion with the honored couple were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gibson McDonald, Mrs. Marie Delery Wassermann, Mr. and Mrs. Fort Pipes, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Puisseur, Mrs. Eunice McDonald Wherritt, Judge and Mrs. Wayne Borah, Mr. and Mrs. John FitzHugh, Mr. and Mrs. Fort Pipes Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Carville Jr., Mrs. W. C. Sherman, Mrs. Lloyd Wesley Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gibson McDonald Jr., Mr. and Mrs. L. Maurice Provosty, Mr. and Mrs. William Charles Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Groner, Mr. and Mrs. Hayward Ball, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Anspach, the Rev. Msgr. John Marsh, the Rev. George Martinez, Misses Lady Greenslit, Virginia Borah, Lynne Farwell, Peggy Powell, Claudia FitzHugh, Elizabeth Pipes and Robert Milling III, David Milling, William Borah, Tucker FitzHugh, Vernon Palmer, George Robbins, Denis McDonald, Robert Lancaster, David Tyrrell and Earl McGowan.

BRIDESMAID'S LUNCHEON

The private dining room of the country club was the setting for Friday's bridesmaids' luncheon given by Mrs. Haydn Cutler Sr., Mrs. Ronald Lee Davis and Mrs. John Theus.

Forming the centerpiece was a cut glass candelabra with four globes containing white roses and stephanotis and flanked by silver swans filled with white bridal roses, stephanotis and miniature gardenias.

Miss McDonald, dressed in a pink linen sheath trimmed with white silk braid and large pearl buttons, was presented with a corsage of white bridal roses and stephanotis.

Invited guests included the bride-elect, Mrs. Hugh G. McDonald, Mrs. Marie Delery Wassermann, Mrs. Robert E. Milling Jr., Mrs. Fort Pipes, Mrs. John FitzHugh, Mrs. Lloyd Wesley Mason Jr., Mrs. Dale Mackie, Mrs. Jerome Toujague, Mrs. Allen Betz and Misses Virginia Borah, Lady Greenslit, Mary Ann McLellan, Lynne Farwell, Claudia FitzHugh, Kingsley FitzHugh, Kay Rea and Lalise O'Brien.

BRUNCH

Mr. and Mrs. George Weeks are using magnolias and native greens to decorate their Riverside Drive home this morning for the brunch for out-of-town guests who have arrived for the Milling-McDonald nuptials.

George Weeks Jr. and Miss Ann Trousdale will assist with the morning courtesies.

COCKTAILS

Layton Castle was the setting for the cocktail party from 6 to 8 p.m. last evening, which Mr. and Mrs. Robert Layton and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Lynch of New Orleans gave for out-of-town guests.

Robert Layton Jr. welcomed guests in the entry, where a massive arrangement of white gladioli and magnolias was noted. A high-pedestalled container of Majestic daisies and white stock was used on the refreshment table, where Mrs. Frank Stubbs and Mrs. Harry Carter of New Orleans assisted with the courtesies.

Sylvia Lewis Becomes Bride Of Thomas Roach

Miss Sylvia Merlene Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey R. Lewis of Eros, became the bride of Thomas K. Roach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley A. Roach of West Monroe in ceremonies read by the Rev. T. B. Sharp on Saturday, June 6. Scene of the nuptials was the organized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Eros.

A carnation covered cross set in greenery formed the background for an ivy entwined arch, flanked by baskets of white gladioli and candelabra. Nuptial music was offered by Mrs. Hyrum Chambliss at the organ and Mrs. O. W. Roberts, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of lace over taffeta, fashioned with scalloped neckline and long sleeves tapering to petal points. The full skirt was caught up with lace rosettes. A jeweled crown held her elbow length veil of silk illusion, and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis centered with a white orchid on a white Bible, which belonged to her late grandmother, Mrs. Eunice Gaston Fuller.

Miss Donna Sue Lewis, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor. Her gown was of pink peau de soie with a wrapped bell skirt and she wore a matching head-dress. Her bouquet was of carnations. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Carolyn Lewis Davis, another sister, who was dressed identically to the honor attendant, Charles Reeves, all of the New Orleans area.

Also Mr. and Mrs. John Christian Jr. of Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Pipes of Natchez; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Turner of Oklahoma City; Mr. and Mrs. William Alexander Percy II of Greenville, Mississippi; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lavigne of Little Rock; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stahel of Greenwood, Mississippi; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hall Jr. and Louis Hall III of El Dorado; General and Mrs. Ellsworth Davis of Vicksburg; Mr. and Mrs. William Kenned Abington Jr. of Lake Village, Arkansas, Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Billeaud and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dalton of Lafayette; Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Puisseur of Handsboro, Mississippi; and Mr. and Mrs. J. Carol Anne McDonald, Mr. Risik Honored At Prenuptial Courtesies

A rehearsal supper at the Paragon Club last night was the concluding compliment for Miss Carol Anne McDonald and Daniel Wehbe Risik, anticipating their marriage this noon at Grace Episcopal Church. Earlier in the week, the bride-elect was honored at two luncheon parties.

Mr. Wehbe A. Risik and his daughter, Miss Barbara Risik of Burlington, Vermont, were hosts for the supper party, which followed the wedding rehearsal of their son and brother and his fiancée, Miss McDonald.

Gardenias and English ivy formed the table centerpiece about circular candleholders holding white tapers. Proposing a toast to the prospective bride and groom was the best man, Kenneth Alexander.

For the festive occasion, the bride-elect wore a dress of white lace with white accessories.

Invited to attend the final pre-nuptial event with the honored couple were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ivy McDonald, parents of the bride-to-be, Miss Betty Ralph, Miss Diane McGee, Miss Lynn Marx, Miss Cornelia DeLee, Kenneth Alexander, Gary Whittlinger, Mickey Wardlow, Tom Peot, Austin Wasley, Bill Williams, Warren Klam and Roger Klam, all members of the wedding party; the Rev. William Baldrige, the Rev. and Mrs. W. Bradley Trimble, the Rev. and Mrs. David Comegys of Bossier City, Dr. and Mrs. Stuart DeLee of Shreveport; Miss Anita Powell of North Little Rock, Miss Ann Hutton and Miss Barbara Hemphill of Little Rock, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. DeLee Jr. of Rayville, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas DeLee McDonald of North Charleston, South Carolina, George Murray Lawn Jr., Neil Raymond McDonald, Noel Strickland of Bossier City, Mrs. Wayne McDonald Sr., Miss Kathryn Sloan, and Mr. and Mrs. Phares Corder.

LUNCHEONS

Mrs. George M. Snellings III and her mother, Mrs. Thomas King entertained at the home of Mrs. Snellings with a luncheon last Tuesday as a prenuptial courtesy for Miss McDonald.

Arrangements of magnolias were used throughout the house during the party, for which the honoree wore a dress of steel gray trimmed in white lace with white patent accessories.

Guests for the occasion were the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Thomas Ivy McDonald, Mrs. Bradley Trimble, Miss Nancy Snellings, Mrs. Wayne McDonald Sr., and Miss Lynn Marx.

MONDAY

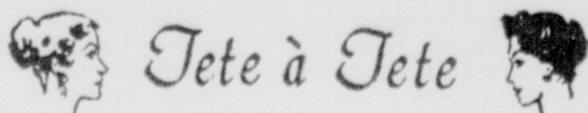

Mrs. Joe E. Marx Jr. and Miss Lynn Marx were hostesses for Monday's luncheon at the Paragon Club, for which white daisies were used to center the party table.

The honoree, dressed in a yellow and white three piece ensemble with white patent accessories, was presented with a glass salad bowl set by her hostesses.

Attending were the honoree, her mother, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Raymond John, Mrs. Alma Lufey, Mrs. Beauford Jacka, and the hostesses.

Candlelight Vows United Ferriday Couple

Yellow candles in spiral candleabra, entwined with ivy formed a setting in the First Baptist Church, Ferriday for the wedding of Miss Mildred Patricia Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Edward Snyder to Herman Lewis Irvin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lewis Irvin, all of Ferriday. Rev. M. H. Fields performed the double ring vows at 7:30 p.m. on June 6.

Candles were lighted by Mrs. Don Varnado of Pineville and Mrs. David Crews of Ferriday.

Carrying a white orchid surrounded by a cascade of yellow roses entwined with English ivy, atop a white Bible, the bride entered on the arm of her father. She wore a gown of white silk re-embroidered organza, with Alencon lace forming a Sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves. The bell shaped skirt was dramatized by an Alencon lace panel and from a back bustle effect the skirt ended in a chapel train. A plateau cloche crown of lace, etched with seed pearls, held her tiered veil of silk illusion. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, gift of the groom.

Mrs. Forrest Peterson, Ruston, attended her cousin as matron of honor. She wore a floor length gown of peacock blue peau de soie, with cummerbund of deeper blue and carried a cascade of yellow roses with English ivy mounted on round wicker balls. Bridesmaids, gowned in ice blue dresses, were Mrs. Earl Moore, Shreveport; Miss Ann Sowers, Winnfield; Miss Karen Wilson, Ferriday and Miss Kay Falkenhiner, cousin of the bride. Junior bridesmaids were Miss Gayla Irvin, sister of the groom; Miss Iva Irvin, cousin of the groom, and Miss Libby Peterson, cousin of the bride. Miss Cindy Nugent served as flower girl and ring bearer was Clay Peterson.

Mr. Irvin attended his son as best man and groomsmen-ushers were Larry Doss, Houston, Tex., Vaughn Dyer, Bay City, Tex., Butch Snyder, brother of the bride; Earl Moore, Shreveport; David Crews, Ferriday; Lloyd Porter, New Orleans and Hyman Copeland, Ferriday.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Snyder wore a moss green dress with lace bodice and controlled bell skirt of peau de soie. The groom's mother wore a mauve lace gown with harmonizing accessories.

The bride's parents entertained with a reception in Fellowship hall of the church, decorated throughout with yellow flowers. Alternating at the bride's table were Mrs. Henry Falkenhiner, Mrs. Louis Bureley, Mrs. Harry Pierce, Mrs. Bill Miller and Mrs. Derwood Clifton. The groom's table was presided over by Mrs. N. K. Dyer, Mrs. Charles Wiggins, Mrs. Ellis Walker and Mrs. W. D. Durham.

Mrs. Don Varnado was in charge of the guest book and assisting in courtesies were Miss Kerry Lynn Pierce, Miss Kathy Winsberg and Miss Jackie Durham.

After a wedding trip to Florida the couple will be at home in Ferriday. For travel the bride wore a three-piece suit of yellow arnel with mohair jacket and yellow accessories.

If a multi-color Scandinavian-type ski sweater "runs" a little in the wash water, stuff it with towels or a layer of cardboard during drying. This will prevent color transfer from one layer to the other, and will also speed drying.

MR. AND MRS. THEODORE L. COLVIN JR.

Colvin-Aycock Nuptials Solemnized In Ruston

Fan-shaped arrangements of white gladioli and pompons with magnolia foliage formed a setting in Grace Methodist Church, Ruston for the wedding of Miss Sylvia Kay Aycock and Theodore L. Colvin Jr., on June 6 at 7 p.m. Rev. Wilson Watson performed the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Aycock of Ruston and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore L. Colvin Sr., of Jonesboro.

Candles in antique white candleabra amid fern trees, were lighted by Jimmy Seay. Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white silk organza over taffeta, styled with scoop neckline, bracelet sleeves and belled skirt, terminating in a sweeping chapel train. Her tiered veil of illusion fell shoulder length from a tiara of seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of cattleya and phalaenopsis orchids, encircled by feathered carnations and garlands of ivy.

Miss Sally Nyhuus of Monroe was maid of honor; Miss Joy McDonald of Baton Rouge, was bridesmaid and Miss Tavia Jo Colvin, sister of the groom, junior bridesmaid. Their short gowns of jonquil yellow satin peau de soie were topped with matching lace jackets and their headdresses were bouffant veil anchored by bows of jonquil peau de soie. They wore matching slippers and carried bouquets of yellow and white carnations, encircled by lace.

Keith Colvin attended his cousin as best man and ushers were Virgil Ray Walsworth of Jonesboro and David Aycock, brother of the bride. The bride's mother wore a pale blue model with flower hat of matching blue and bone accessories. Mrs. Colvin, mother of the groom, wore an aqua raw silk gown with white accessories. Both had corsages of white carnations.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in the social room of the church. Miss Sharon Aycock presided at the bride's book. At the bride's table, centered with an arrangement of white gladioli, yellow pompons and iris, Mrs. H. H. Temple poured punch and Mrs. Glen Moncrief served the wedding cake. Rice was distributed by Lisa Malone and Susie Chavallier, cousins of the bride.

For a short wedding trip to Hot Springs, Ark., the bride wore a white ensemble, complemented by an etched cameo necklace and earrings, gift of the groom.

Attending from here were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nyhuus and Bruce, Monroe and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Malone Jr., Lisa, Lana and Lora, West Monroe.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Even though so very much is written about nutrition, many women are still confused about the different food classifications.

Many readers write that they know how important the protein foods are but are not sure that they know all of them. So, today let's have a quick review!

The protein foods are meat, milk, cheese, eggs, fish, and seafoods. Many other foods have some protein, but these are the items usually classified as proteins.

Then we have the carbohydrates. These are the starch and sugar items.

The fats consist of butter, margarine, fat from meat, and oils.

This is a great over-simplification. An egg yolk has lots of fat while many vegetables have quite a bit of starch. However, this will help guide you.

The important thing is to have a well-balanced diet which gives you some of all of these foods. If you are reducing you should eat less of the carbohydrates and fats, although you do need some. If you have a high cholesterol blood level most experts feel that you would be wise to cut down on your fat intake.

A few general rules will help you reduce. Eat a varied diet, but eat less of everything. Substitute fresh fruit for dessert most of the time. Bake or broil rather than fry your foods. Make it a habit to take smaller servings and no second helpings. Do not eat between meals unless it is fresh fruit or fruit juice. Even these few suggestions will make a great difference.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Guide To Food Types" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet number 42 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

New Theatre To Be Built On Louisville

The Gulf States Theatres, Inc., which owns and operates motion picture theatres in more than 75 cities in five Southern states, Saturday announced plans for a modern 1,000-seat theatre in the Twin City Shopping Center on Louisville Avenue.

Construction of the new theatre will begin immediately, T. G. Solomon, president and principal stockholder, announced in the McComb, Miss., headquarters.

This is the first new theatre in the Twin Cities in more than 30 years.

The new amusement facility will be known as the Twin City Theatre.

Architect for the building is William Hughes of Baton Rouge, a specialist in the design of theatres.

Completion, Solomon said, is expected about Thanksgiving. The theatre will have the latest 35 and 70-millimeter equipment, along with stereophonic sound. It will be completely air-conditioned. The modern theatre will also be the largest in northeast Louisiana.

The theatre will be located in the southeast part of the center, near Louisville Avenue, and on the main parking lot.

Commenting on the proposed new theatre is in keeping with the growth of the Twin Cities and the trade area. We at Gulf States believe the future prospects for the area justifies a new and larger theatre. The theatre will feature only first run pictures.

"We in the company are happy to take this step in unison with the progressive businesses which are using the Twin City Shopping Center in providing centrally-located facilities."

Five Rural Mail Routes Extended In West Monroe

Five rural mail route extensions were announced Friday by West Monroe Postmaster Homer Roark. All will become effective Monday, July 6.

A total of 14 families will be involved in the extensions. Roark said. To receive the mail service, Roark said they must put up an approved mail box alongside the road at the correct height (40 inches from the bottom of the box to the ground) and have their name on the box.

Mail will be delivered over the next extensions six days a week excluding holidays.

The extensions are:

THROUGHOUT SOUTH Negroes To Keep Testing Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Negro leaders Friday promised immediate and continuing tests of the civil rights bill over the South the minute President Johnson signs it into law.

"The administration will be unable to determine if it is working without a test," the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. said.

King, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), and James Farmer, head of the more militant Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), agreed that the testing ground will be in the South. Both said the bill provided no weapons to end de facto segregation in northern cities.

Malcolm X, former "Black Muslim" spokesman who now heads his own group, predicted "much more violence" after the bill is passed and condemned it as an unenforceable act that will "build up the Negro for a big letdown by promising that which cannot be delivered."

King, who has been leading racial demonstrations in St. Augustine, Fla., said the testing grounds will be in St. Augustine, Albany, Ga., and Montgomery, Birmingham, Tuscaloosa, Gadsden and Selma, Ala.

James Foreman, No. 2 man of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) which is moving its headquarters to Mississippi, said the advance guard of recruits trained for a summer assault on segregation in Mississippi will leave Monday.

Foreman said there was no immediate plan to change the emphasis from "freedom schools" to tests of the civil rights bill's public accommodations section in Mississippi.

He said there was no evidence that Mississippi officials will make any effort to comply with the law, and "one may as well get ready for massive defiance."

The public accommodations section, which outlaws segregation based on race in facilities which cater to the general public, will be the main article to be tested, King said. Negroes will "furnish the situations" for the Justice Department to act upon.

Theft, Traffic Cases Handled In City Court

Three persons were fined on charges of theft by Judge W.M. Harper in Monroe Municipal Court Friday.

Fined were Melvin Cooper, 20, 1820 DeSiard St., $350; Clementine Green, 26, 410 S. 23rd St., $100, and Jimmie Hudson, 17, 4100 Simon St., $100. Theft charges against Jeff Spence and Roy and Mary Hinkle were nolle prossed with Spence paying court costs. The Hinkles were sentenced to terms in the state penitentiary earlier in Fourth District Court.

Theft by check charges against Marcus Chin were nolle prossed.

Bertha Lee Jones, 17, of No. 5, Bennett's Hotel, was fined $350 for use of a dangerous weapon.

Judge Harper also handled 45 traffic cases with four persons forfeiting bonds on speeding charges. They were Dixie Brown, 29, 418 Bayou Oaks Dr., $13; John Gonzales, 33, 102 Warwick St., $15; Thomas Gibbs, 19, 1713 Francis Place, $40 and Richard Williams, FSA Foster Homes, $10.

Forfeiting bonds on reckless driving counts were Phillip Lala, 16, 205 Caroline St., $14; Madison Hall, NLSC, $30; H. J. Mason, 1706 N. 4th St., $30. Charges against Alfred Daniel, 43, 4236 Oak Ridge Dr., and Betty H. Greer, 27, 104 Orange St., West Monroe, were discharged. Eddie Coleman Jr., 1504 Rogers St., was fined $10 for reckless driving while the charges against Ruby McCallion, 36, 1708 Auburn St., and Charles Thurmond, Rt. 4, West Monroe, were nolle prossed.

Other counts handled included 33 for minor traffic violations.

Code In Monroe Bans Fireworks

C. W. Flacy, head of the Bureau of Fire Prevention, Monroe Fire Department, said Friday that persons wishing to celebrate July 4th with fireworks would have to leave the city limits to do so. Flacy said this rule applied to possession and sale of fireworks also.

In a statement Friday, Flacy said, "The fire prevention code for the City of Monroe specifically states that fireworks cannot be stored, sold, offered for sale or exploded in the city." He said this meant also that fireworks could not be purchased outside of the city and returned for use inside the city.

The fire prevention code was adopted by the Monroe City Council in 1956 at the recommendation of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Freeman Sets Wheat Acreage For '65 Crop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman Friday set the national planting allotments for the 1965 wheat crop at 49.5 million acres, the same as this year, but 10 per cent below 1963.

This allotment, which was forecast some time ago, was apportioned among the states largely on the basis of past production history. State allotments will be divided among counties and farms on a somewhat similar basis.

Farmers will not be required to comply with their allotments, but as is the case this year, only those who do so will be eligible for government price supports and payments authorized by the new wheat stabilization program which went into effect this year.

Freeman did not announce the rate of support or payments for co-operating farmers for 1965. This year, the support rate averages $1.30 a bushel. In addition farmers get marketing certificates worth 47.5 cents a bushel on the normal production of their allotments and diversion payments averaging about $6 an acre on land held out of wheat.

PEGGY ROMERO

International Title Is Won By Tech Girl

RUSTON (Special) — International Crescent Girl of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity chapters throughout the United States and Canada is the latest distinction to be bestowed upon Peggy Romero of Kaplan, a junior in home economics at Louisiana Tech.

The attractive Tech brunette was chosen by a committee of the social fraternity at the organization's headquarters in Indianapolis.

Miss Romero will be crowned at the biennial international assembly of Lambda Chi Alpha at the Doral Beach Hotel in Miami Beach, Fla., on Sep. 1. Officiating at the coronation will be Dr. Lee F. Tuttle of Lake Junaluska, N. C., international president of the Greek-letter organization.

Miss Romero, a member of the Kappa Delta social sorority at Tech, was entered in the international competition by the Tech chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha, of which she was the local Crescent Girl.

Tech Lambda Chi's planning to attend the convention include John Bice, Ruston; Charles White, Bogalusa; Larry West, Ruston; Curt Satter, New Orleans; Walt Fall, Shreveport; Glenn Reynolds, Alexandria; and Richard Blanks, Bastrop.

During the year prior to her enrolling at Tech in the fall of 1962, Miss Romero was national president of the Future Homemakers of America and was the recipient of the $1,500 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow Scholarship.

She was chosen the Louisiana Farm Bureau Queen in 1961-62. Last summer, Miss Romero was named Miss Louisiana at Lake Pontchartrain in connection with preliminaries of the Miss Universe contest.

Cadets of the Air Force ROTC at Tech last spring selected Miss Romero as their queen.

She is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Romero of Kaplan. She has two brothers, Alton Jr., who is 15, and I. J., who is 11.

MONROE OPTIMIST CLUB

Official Outlines Ethics Code Aims

A Code of Ethics bill backed by Gov. John J. McKeithen's administration was written to "restore the confidence of the people" in state government, the Monroe Optimist Club was told Friday.

James H. Chubbuck, assistant director of the Council for A Better Louisiana, said the bill was "not a cure-all," but would meet the "objectives sought."

The bill, McKeithen's No. 1 legislative item, passed the Senate, 37-0, Thursday before the Legislature adjourned until Monday. It now goes to the House for consideration.

Chubbuck said CABL the organization that wrote the bill, had "high hopes" of passing the bill in the House.

He explained that a CABL committee, while drafting the code, sought two basic objectives:

1. First, to identify conflicts of interests and unethical practices in government and to provide prohibitions and penalties.
2. Secondly, to insure that in so doing, no barriers were erected to the public service, but that instead sound guidelines would be provided that would encourage those best qualified to join the public service and seek political office.

The Louisiana bill was patterned after a New York City code and a bill that was killed in the Louisiana Legislature in 1962, he pointed out.

But Chubbuck noted that if the Legislature adopts the bill, Louisiana would become the only state in the union with a Code of Ethics covering state officials, as well as state employees.

He said CABL, during the past elections, polled candidates for the Legislature, as well as the major candidates for governor, explaining that many of them "expressed their desire for a Code that would include all, from bottom to top, elected, hired, and appointed in state government."

"There is no doubt that the public has not always had a fair shake with some of the officials it has elected over the years," Chubbuck said, in explaining the needs for a Code of Ethics.

He added, "Some officials in this state have grown accustomed to using their office, which belongs to the people, for their own private gain. The practices these persons engage in are not in fact illegal, but yet are a conflict between the public's interest and the private interest of the official."

Explaining how the Code of Ethics would work, Chubbuck said state employees would be supervised under the code by a five-man commission — one from the Civil Service Commission and the other four from labor, industry, agriculture and the professions.

EMPLOYEES

Here is how state employees would be affected:

"Basically, the code prohibits the state employee from profiting because of the job he holds with the state. Any employee would be barred from participating in any transaction with the state where he, his family, partner, or business affiliate has a substantial economic interest.

"Also, the code prohibits any employee from receiving anything of value from private sources for services he renders to the state in the course of his official duties. This restriction, however, does not affect private employment outside of an employee's regular duties, or continuation in pension plans.

"Furthermore, employees are prohibited from receiving gifts from any person involved in transactions with the employer's particular agency."

Chubbuck explained that board members appointed by the governor would be "forbidden from participating in any transaction involving his board or commission if he, his family, partner, or business affiliate has a personal economic interest."

State employees found in violation of the code, Chubbuck explained, would be subject to dismissal, plus liable for a fine not to exceed $2,000 or a jail term not to exceed one year or both.

A three-man board — one named by the governor and the other two selected by the House and Senate — would administer the code for state officials, receives any compensation for representing any person or firm before a state agency must disclose this interest to the board administering the code. This disclosure is confidential and could be released only during the course of a public hearing, if the disclosure is important to the hearing."

Chubbuck said the only action that the board supervising the code would take was to find the "official in violation of the Code at a public hearing."

An official convicted in court of violating the Code would be liable to a $2,000 fine, or a jail term not to exceed one year or both.

"I want to point out that under no circumstances can either the ethics board of commission take any official action or make any determination against an employee or elected official except at a public hearing," Chubbuck said.

He added that CABL had high hopes of the bill passing the House.

POVERTY CRITICISMS

Gov. Scranton Hits Goldwater Remarks

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania said Friday that Sen. Barry Goldwater, his opponent for the Republican presidential nomination, has "embarrassed" the GOP by criticizing poverty-stricken people.

Scranton also was critical of President Johnson's war on poverty, calling it "woefully inadequate in assisting the poor who are poor today."

Scranton moved into Kentucky in efforts to gain delegate votes and try to overtake Goldwater, who has more than enough delegates favoring him to win the nomination if all support him on the first ballot, according to an Associated Press poll.

Scranton's trip here was delayed for 23 minutes at Harrisburg, Pa., after an anonymous telephone call said a bomb was on his campaign plane. The plane departed after a search of the craft failed to turn up any bomb.

In remarks prepared for Republicans here, Scranton, in an obvious reference to Goldwater, said: "I believe it is most unfortunate that the present front-running candidate for our presidential nomination has embarrassed our party by announcing that people who are poor have only their stupidity or their laziness to blame."

Scranton said Goldwater's statements about poverty are "a slander on the thousands of good Americans who through no fault of their own have been caught in the backlash of our urbanized, industrialized, fast-moving society."

"It is a terrible thing for the Republican party to allow itself to stigmatize every poor man and every poor woman and every poor child as stupid and lazy," said Scranton.

As for Johnson, Scranton said: "Shortly after he assumed office in a great fit of nervous energy, the President hit upon poverty as a first-class political issue."

"To the vast army of bureaucrats of his command he gave the order: 'Make me an instant poverty program. It doesn't have to do anything about poverty, but it has to be against

Scranton said the result was a "war on poverty that is woefully inadequate in assisting the poor who are poor today."

"No help is offered to the poverty-stricken, to the aged poor, to those who have already been left behind in the American march to prosperity," he said.

Kentucky is the sixth state in which Scranton has campaigned for delegate votes this week, not counting Pennsylvania. Earlier in the week, he toured the Midwest covering Iowa, Minnesota, Kansas, Colorado and Missouri. Saturday he addresses the Massachusetts state Republican convention in Boston.

Speedy O. Long Predicts Win In Congress Race

WINNFIELD (Special) — Speedy O. Long, candidate for the Eighth District congressional seat against his cousin, Rep. Gillis Long, predicted a sweeping victory in a barbeque rally speech here Friday night.

Mrs. George S. Long, widow of the former Eighth District representative, also announced her support for Speedy at the rally.

Speaking to a crowd of about 2,000, the former state senator pointed out what he termed general dissatisfaction with Gillis' Washington record. He said if elected, he would never come here to run for another office. Gillis ran unsuccessfully for governor in the past election.

The candidate also promised to work for the benefit of veterans in his district and to see that social security beneficiaries get a better deal.

In conclusion, Long said "I feel real good over the way my campaign is proceeding" and predicted a sweeping victory.

On the speaker's stand with the Speedy were Mayor Nick Edwards of Jena, Long's parents of Tullis, his wife and son of Jena and several kinfolk and friends.

Al Hobson's Skyliners band provided music.

CONTROVERSIAL ISSUE

Governor Cancels State's Land Swap

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Gov. John McKeithen Friday canceled the controversial land swap here between the state and a private firm.

The governor said he acted at the request of the Orleans legislative delegation and on the basis of an investigation made by the New Orleans City Council.

The land swap took place between the State Public Works Department and New Orleans Canal, Inc., last April. Two strips along West Edn Blvd. were involved.

Mayor Victor Schiro charged the "city has been took," claiming the strip swapped by the firm had belonged to the city since the latter part of the 19th century. A city council investigation followed.

McKeithen announced the decision to rescind the swap during a news conference here. He called the "exchange detrimental to the state."

He said he had made no investigation, but that enough alleged irregularities had been reported to warrant voiding the deal.

Summer Term Enrollment At Northeast Rises

Summer session enrollment at Northeast Louisiana State College is up 14.3 per cent, Registrar Lake Oxford announced Friday. Increases are reported in all areas with the biggest jump — 35 per cent — in the number of beginning freshmen.

Dr. Oxford said latest figures place the enrollment for the current term at 1,917, compared to 1,677 for last summer.

Breaking current enrollment figures down into various categories, the registrar reported 1,001 women and 916 men students. By classes, there are 523 freshmen, 317 sophomores, 317 juniors, 481 seniors and 279 graduate students.

Last summer there were 907 women and 770 men students enrolled. By classes, there were 430 freshmen, 296 sophomores, 301 juniors, 412 seniors and 238 graduate students.

Summer enrollment at Northeast has risen steadily over the past decade with current totals 70 per cent higher than five years ago and over three times the 1954 figure.

Woman Injured As Cars Collide

An 84-year-old woman, Rosalie Scalia, was injured Friday afternoon in a two-car collision at N. 8th St. and Auburn Avenue. She was admitted to St. Francis Hospital.

According to police, the injured woman was a passenger in a vehicle driven by Mary S. Long, of 802 Rochelle Ave., Monroe, which apparently ran a stop sign on Auburn, colliding with a vehicle driven by Daniel H. Houchity, 21, of 701 Erin Ave. The Houchity vehicle was traveling north on N. 8th St.

The Long woman was ticketed for running a stop sign.

For an unusual and eye-catching pair of book ends, plant two matching vases with ivy, says the Society of Americans. The soil will give the vases enough weight to hold books in place. Train the ivy vines over wire to trail to each side.

SCRANTON'S REQUEST

Goldwater Blasts Bid As 'Sell Out'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater accused Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton on Friday of "asking me to sell out my principles" with the Republican presidential nomination as the payoff—by urging him to vote for the civil rights bill.

The Arizona conservative told his 11th-hour challenger for the GOP nomination that the public accommodations and fair employment titles of the measure are "clearly contrary" to "Republican regard for the Constitution."

"I believe as firmly as you do in the rights of our people, but I do not believe, as you evidently do, that we should threaten the liberties of all people, including those we are now concerned with, in order to be able to say that we have legislated," said Goldwater, who announced Thursday his decision to vote against the measure.

Scranton wired the Arizona senator urging that he repudiate that stand. "Your views on the subject to date are opposite to the traditional Republican philosophy of equal opportunities for all, and it is of great importance to our party that you now change your views," the governor told Goldwater, the front-running GOP presidential contender.

In announcing he would vote against the bill, Goldwater said the public accommodations and employment sections "fly in the face of the Constitution."

Scranton promptly countered

Negro Boy Held For Obscenity

WINNSBORO (Special) —The Franklin Parish sheriff's department is holding a 15-year-old Negro youth for allegedly using obscene language to a nine-year-old white girl Friday afternoon. The incident occurred about 6 p.m. Friday as the girl was returning home from the city swimming pool here.

The youth will be turned over to juvenile authorities.

Negro Bandit Holds Up Truck In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Two electric firm employees were robbed Friday of $415 in cash and nearly $20,000 in checks by a Negro at a downtown street intersection.

Bernard Bilbo, 22, a d Philip Roberts, 28, said they were en route to a bank when the Negro youth climbed into the back of their panel truck and threatened to kill them if they didn't hand over the money.

They said the gunman grabbed a bag containing the money, jumped from the truck and fled.
